Carrier bag and security printer Dynaflex has ordered a second flexo press from Comexi.

Dynaflex invests in new technology as it enjoys the challenge of complex jobs

The eight-colour Flexo FW will be installed in a second plant under construction in India.

The family-owned printing company is managed by Niranjan Vora and his sons Gaurav and Sid, who emphasised the company's position as a market leader.

"We love challenges and our speciality is security applications for mailing and storage – the more complex the better," said managing director Niranjan Vora.

He added that Dynaflex has continually invested in the latest technology ever since the company invested in India's first CI flexo press more than two decades ago.

Regarding his latest investment, Vora said: "We analysed various companies but felt that Comexi possessed excellent technological capabilities and the performance of the first machine has been outstanding."
